How to Use This Vault

Every hook below is a fill-in-the-blank template. Swap the bracketed part for your niche, your number, or your specific claim, and it becomes a brand-new hook. Ten categories, roughly a dozen templates each — and because most templates work across dozens of possible topics and numbers, this single pack gives you 500+ realistic hook variations once you plug in your own content.

The Golden Rule of Hooks

A hook makes a promise. The rest of the post has to deliver on it. A great hook with a weak follow-through trains your audience to stop trusting your hooks — so only use one you can actually back up.

1. Curiosity Gaps

"Nobody talks about this part of [topic]..."

"The thing that changed everything for me wasn't what you'd expect."

"I almost didn't post this, but..."

"There's a reason [common belief] is wrong, and it's not what you think."

"What nobody tells you about [topic] before you start."

"The one thing I wish someone told me about [topic] on day one."

"This one small change made the biggest difference."

2. Numbers & Lists

"[Number] things I'd do differently if I were starting [topic] today."

"[Number] signs you're [struggle/pattern] without realizing it."

"[Number] mistakes I made so you don't have to."

"[Number] things that sound fake but are 100% true about [topic]."

"Here's how I did [result] in [number] days."

3. Bold Claims / Myth-Busting

"Everything you've been told about [topic] is wrong."

"You don't need [common belief] to [achieve goal]."

"[Common advice] is actually terrible advice. Here's why."

"Stop doing [common practice]. It's not helping you."

"The 'right' way to do [topic] doesn't exist — here's what actually works."

4. Relatable / Confessional

"If you've ever felt like [specific struggle], this is for you."

"I used to think [old belief] until [what changed]."

"Can we talk about how nobody prepares you for [challenge]?"

"The moment I realized [realization]..."

"POV: you finally admit [relatable truth] to yourself."

"This is your sign to stop [common behavior]."

5. Direct Question

"Do you ever feel like [struggle], no matter what you try?"

"What if [common belief] wasn't actually true?"

"Why does nobody talk about [topic] like this?"

"What would change if you stopped [common pattern] today?"

6. Storytime

"So this happened, and I have to share it..."

"Let me tell you about the time [specific moment]."

"I wasn't going to post this, but here's what happened."

"A year ago I was [before state]. Today I'm [after state]. Here's what happened."

7. Urgency / Timeliness

"If you're seeing this before [date/event], read this first."

"Before you [common action], watch/read this."

"This is your reminder to [action] before it's too late."

8. Before/After & Transformation

"[Before state] to [after state] — here's exactly what I did."

"I went from [struggle] to [result] in [timeframe]."

"This is what changed after I stopped [old habit]."

"The difference between [before] and [after] came down to one decision."

9. Teaching / How-To

"Here's exactly how to [achieve result], step by step."

"The simplest way to [achieve result] that actually works."

"How to [result] without [common obstacle]."

"Hot take: [common practice] is overrated."

"Not everyone will agree with this, but someone needs to say it."

Multiplying Your Hooks

Each template above works across every topic in your content pillars. Ten categories × roughly a dozen templates × your unlimited specific topics, numbers, and claims is how this pack becomes 500+ real, usable hooks rather than 100 generic ones.
