

HER NEW ERA

The Goal-to-Action Life Planner

A vague hope for "a better life" doesn't move. This turns your vision into months, weeks, and Monday mornings.

"A goal without a next step is just a wish with better branding."

From Vision to Monday Morning

Read this first

Most planners jump straight to to-do lists without ever checking whether those tasks connect to anything that actually matters to you. This one works backward: start with the full picture of your life, narrow to what matters most right now, break it into a 90-day plan, then a monthly, weekly, and daily rhythm you can actually follow.

What you'll build:

- ☐ A full-life audit across the areas that actually make up "a good life"
- ☐ Your top 3 priorities for the next 90 days — not 15 competing goals
- ☐ A 90-day breakdown into monthly milestones
- ☐ Weekly and daily action templates you can reuse every week

The Life Wheel

Rate where you are today, honestly, out of 10

Area	Score (1–10)	One sentence on why
Career / purpose
Money
Health & body
Relationships
Personal growth
Fun & rest
Home & environment

What Stands Out

Which score surprised you? Which one, if it moved up even 2 points, would change everything else?

The Vision Snapshot

Before you plan the next 90 days, picture the next 3 years

It's easy to build a detailed 90-day plan that technically works but points you in the wrong direction entirely. This page is a gut check — a rough sketch of where you're actually headed, so the 90-day plan on the next few pages is pointed the right way.

Three Years From Now

Where are you living? What does a normal Tuesday look like? What have you stopped tolerating?

The One Thing

If nothing else changed in the next 90 days except one thing, what would move you closest to that 3-year picture?

Choosing Your Top 3

Focus beats a long list every time

Pick three priorities for the next 90 days. Not ten. Three — chosen from the life wheel, chosen because they matter more than the rest right now.

Priority	Why this, why now	What "done" looks like in 90 days
2.
3.

AI companion prompt: "Here are the three priorities I've chosen for the next 90 days: [list them]. Help me stress-test them — are any of these actually the same goal in disguise, and are they realistically achievable together in this timeframe?"

The 90-Day Breakdown

Three priorities, three months, one map

Priority	Month 1 milestone	Month 2 milestone	Month 3 milestone
1.
2.
3.

The One Constraint

What's the one thing most likely to derail this plan (time, money, energy, a specific person or habit)? Name your workaround now.

Turning Milestones Into Measurable Targets

"Get healthier" isn't a milestone. "Walk 3x a week" is.

A milestone you can't tell whether you hit is a milestone that quietly gets abandoned. For each priority, rewrite the Month 1 milestone as something with a number, a date, or a clear yes/no attached to it.

Priority	Vague version	Measurable version
3.

AI companion prompt: "Here's a goal I've written: [paste it]. Help me turn it into a measurable milestone with a clear number, date, or yes/no outcome, without making it so rigid that normal life setbacks break it."

Weekly Action Template

Photocopy this rhythm every Sunday

Priority	This week's one action	When it's scheduled
2.
3.

Weekly Review Questions

What moved forward this week? What got in the way? What's the one adjustment for next week?

Daily Action Template

Three lines, every morning

Today's Focus

Priority it connects to	Today's one action	Time blocked

End of Day

Did you do it? If not, what got in the way, and what's the plan for tomorrow?

30/60/90-Day Check-In

At each milestone, revisit your life wheel scores. What moved? What needs a new plan, not more willpower?

When a Goal Isn't Working

Adjusting a plan isn't quitting on it

Signal	What it might mean	Your move
You've missed the weekly action 3+ weeks running	The action is too big, not the goal	Cut it in half and try again next week
You're hitting the actions but nothing feels different	Wrong milestone, or wrong priority entirely	Revisit Part 2 — is this still the right top 3?
You dread your weekly review	The plan feels like punishment, not progress	Rebuild it around what excites you, not just what's "productive"

Quarterly Reset

Every 90 days, come back to Part 1. Rescore your life wheel, pick a new top 3 if needed, and rebuild the map. Growth isn't one plan executed perfectly — it's a series of honest ones.

THE PLAN IS REAL NOW

Vision Without Action Is Just a Nice Idea

You've got the map. Now it's Monday mornings, one at a time.

Pair this with the Future Self AI Planning Kit to keep your direction sharp every week.
