

HER NEW ERA

The Future Self AI Planning Kit

Use AI as a thinking partner for the woman you're becoming — ready-to-paste prompts for vision, decisions, and weekly check-ins.

"You don't need the perfect plan. You need a smarter conversation with yourself."

HER NEW ERA AI

How to Use This Kit

Read this first

This kit pairs with any AI chat tool you already use (Claude, ChatGPT, or similar). Every prompt below is written to be copied exactly as-is, with the bracketed parts swapped for your own details. The AI isn't doing the becoming for you — it's helping you think more clearly, catch your own blind spots, and turn vague feelings into specific next steps.

What's inside:

- ☐ Future self visioning prompts to get specific about who you're becoming
- ☐ A weekly AI check-in ritual to stay honest with your direction
- ☐ Decision-making prompts for the moments you feel stuck or torn
- ☐ A monthly deep-reflection prompt to track real change over time

A Note on How to Use AI Here

Treat it like a smart, non-judgmental friend who asks good questions — not an oracle. The value is in what the conversation surfaces in you, not in whatever it outputs. AI doesn't know your life better than you do — it's just better than most people at asking a good follow-up question without getting tired, bored, or defensive.

Getting Better Answers

- ☐ Give it real specifics, not vague summaries — "I froze in the meeting" beats "I struggled today"
- ☐ Ask it to ask you questions instead of just giving advice — that's where the real insight comes from
- ☐ Push back if a response feels generic: "that's too generic, get more specific to my situation"
- ☐ Save the conversations that hit — you'll want to reread them during your monthly reflection

Future Self Visioning Prompts

Get specific about who you're becoming

"I want to think through who I'm becoming over the next 1–3 years. Ask me one question at a time — about my daily life, my relationships, my work, and how I feel in my body — to help me build a vivid, specific picture of my future self. Don't let me stay vague."

"Here's a rough picture of my future self: [describe her]. Play back to me what you notice — what feels specific and real, and what still sounds like a generic 'best version of myself' cliché I should get more honest about."

"My future self has already solved [a problem you're facing now]. Talk to me as if you're interviewing her about how she handled it. Ask me questions and let me answer as her."

Capture What Surfaced

Future Self by Category

Copy the one that matches what's on your mind right now

Career: "My future self has work she actually finds meaningful. Ask me questions about what that would need to look like day-to-day, not just as a job title, so I can get specific instead of settling for a vague 'dream job' answer."

Money: "My future self feels calm about money, not just wealthier. Help me figure out what specific habits, numbers, or decisions would actually create that feeling, based on what I share with you about my current situation."

Relationships: "My future self has relationships that feel easy and mutual. Ask me questions about what I'd need to stop tolerating and start expecting to get there."

Health & body: "My future self has a relationship with her body built on care, not punishment. Help me identify one belief I currently hold that works against that, and one small shift that would move me toward it."

The Weekly AI Check-In

A five-minute ritual, every Sunday

"I'm doing my weekly check-in. Here's what happened this week: [wins, struggles, decisions]. Ask me questions to help me see the week honestly — not just what I did, but who I was being while I did it."

"Based on what I just shared, help me name one pattern worth noticing and one small, specific action for next week that would move me closer to who I'm becoming."

This week's pattern	Next week's one action

Decision-Making Prompts

For the moments you feel stuck or torn

"I'm torn between [option A] and [option B]. Instead of telling me what to choose, ask me questions that help me figure out which option my future self – the one I'm working toward – would actually pick."

"I think I already know the answer to [decision] but I'm avoiding it. Ask me what I'm afraid will happen if I choose it, and help me get honest about whether that fear is realistic."

"Play devil's advocate on this decision: [describe it]. Push back on my reasoning so I can pressure-test it before I commit."

Decision Log

Decision	What I chose	Why

Monthly Deep Reflection

Track real change, not just busy weeks

"It's the end of the month. Here's what I focused on, struggled with, and accomplished: [summary]. Ask me reflective questions to help me see how I've actually changed this month — in how I think, not just what I did."

"Compare who I was at the start of this month to who I am now, based on what I've shared with you across our chats. What growth do you notice that I might be underselling myself on?"

This Month, I Became Someone Who...

When You Feel Stuck or Foggy

For the days you don't even know what to ask

"I don't have a specific question — I just feel stuck and a little foggy about my life right now. Ask me a few open questions to help me figure out what's actually going on underneath that feeling."

"I keep saying I want to change something but I'm not doing anything about it. Help me get honest about whether I actually want this change, or whether I'm attached to the idea of wanting it."

"Summarize the last few things I've told you about what I want for my life. Notice any contradictions or repeated themes I might be missing."

What Came Up

A SMARTER CONVERSATION

Your Future Self Is a Prompt Away

Come back to this kit whenever you feel foggy on direction. The questions do the work — you just have to answer honestly.

Pair this with the Goal-to-Action Life Planner to turn your reflections into a real 90-day plan.